HAS KEPT FAITH, SAYS PRESIDENT

Record Shows Promises Fulfilled, Declares Mr. Wilson.

HIS SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

National Defense Are Provided For, Laws Against Trusts Simplified, Tariff Revised, Banking System Reformed, Remedial Measures Benefit Workmen and Farmers and Merchant Marine Revived.

In his address at Shadow Lawn, Long Branch, N. J., accepting the Democratic nomination for president, Woodrow Wilson said:

"Senator James, Gentlemen of the Notification Committee, Fellow Citizens—I cannot accept the leadership and responsibility which the national Democratic convention has again, in such generous fashion, asked me to accept without first expressing my profound gratitude to the party for the trust it reposes in me after four years of fiery trial in the midst of affairs of unprecedented difficulty and the keen sense of added responsibility with which this honor fills (I had almost said burdens) me as I think of the great issues of national life and policy involved in the present and immediate future conduct of our government. I shall seek, as I have always sought, to justify the extraordinary confidence thus reposed in me by striving to purge my heart and purpose of every personal and of every misleading party motive and devoting every energy I have to the service of the nation as a whole, praying that I may continue to have the counsel and support of all forward looking men at every turn of the difficult business.

"For I do not doubt that the people of the United States will wish the Democratic party to continue in control of the government. They are not in the habit of rejecting those who have actually served them for those who are making doubtful and conjectural promises of service. Least of all are they likely to substitute those who promised to render them particular services and proved false to that promise for those who have actually rendered those very services.

Explicit Promises Fulfilled.
"Boasting is always an empty boast, which pleases nobody but the boaster, and I have no disposition to boast of what the Democratic party has accomplished. It has merely done its duty. It has merely fulfilled its explicit promises. But there can be no violation of good taste in calling attention to the manner in which those promises have been carried out or in advertising to the interesting fact that many of the things accomplished were what the opposition party had again and again promised to do, but had left undone. Indeed, that is manifestly part of the business of this year of reckoning.

R. R. CONTROVERSY HAS BEEN SETTLED

This Article Was Written So You Understand How It Started And Ended

The four Brotherhoods of railroad trainmen presented their demands six months ago to the railroad companies for an eight hour basis working day, and other radical changes in some working conditions.

When these demands were presented, the railroads refused them entirely.

The Brotherhood chiefs then submitted to their men whether or not to call a strike, and more than three-fourths of them voted for it. Then the railroads proposed to arbitrate all points including the eight hour day.

The men agreed to arbitrate all points but the eight hour day. And why? Because, as they said, and it is admitted, three-fourths of the trainmen already work on the eight hour basis, and a number of railroads apply the eight hour day to all train service. On all railroads, eight hours is the basic day for all through passenger and freight traffic, and covers three fourths of the trainmen. The ten hour day applies only to local freight and passenger crews.

In rejecting the proposal to arbitrate, the trainmen asked this question, "why jeopardize a privilege that three fourths of our men already possess for a chance to gain possibly the same advantage for the other one fourth?"

When the opposing forces were unable to compose their difference the president intervened in behalf of the whole people of the nation who would be the innocent but awful sufferers of the strike—one of the greatest calamities that could befall us. After patiently hearing both sides the president discovered that the differences were relatively small—the brotherhoods were asking for one fourth of the trainmen the same privilege—the eight hour day—which the other three fourths were enjoying. He suggested as a remedy that the railroads tentatively grant the demand in order to have a through trial of it. He promised to appoint a committee of experienced men to observe the workings of it, and report the results to congress. In this way it could best be determined as the president argued, whether it was right or wrong and whether operating expenses would be increased, and whether a raise in traffic rates would be necessary. In any event Congress could provide the remedy.

When it is recalled that the platforms of all parties, Democrats, Republican and Progressives have expressly approved the eight hour day in principle, and have enacted into law provisions placing all government work on that basis, and when it is further remembered that all through train service has for quite a while been upon that basis, it will readily be appreciated that the president truly said that the best public sentiment and mature thought favored it. When the just proposals of the president were rejected by the railroads, it remained for Congress alone, to avert the calamity.

Unless Congress acted promptly and effectively, the strike which had already been called meant the complete tie up of all

EIGHT-HOUR DAY MADE A LAW.

The Republican Administration Made Promises But Wilson Made Them Laws

Some of our Republican and Progressive friends have complained at the President because he has seen fit to put into law and practice many of their platform promises. It must be admitted that the President has done this in some instances, but that it is a just cause for complaint few will concede.

To illustrate, when Roosevelt stood sponsor for Taft in 1908 and had him nominated, the Republican Platform expressed great pride in "The wise policy which has induced the Republican party to maintain protection to American labor, to establish the eight hour day in the construction of all public work."

In 1912, when Taft allied himself with the stand patters, and Roosevelt led the great revolt, the Republican platform was strangely silent on the labor question, but the progressive platform was pronounced in its advocacy of the Eight hour day.

During the Wilson administration laws have been passed by congress placing all government work on the eight hour basis, and the present Republican platform upon which Mr. Hughes is running approves those laws by saying we pledge the Republican party to the faithful enforcement of all Federal laws passed for the protection of labor.

The Republican Party in election times has always been profuse in platform promises of progressive legislation. The strength of the Wilson administration consists in a record of platform pledges redeemed by laws enacted to put them into practice. The Republicans do not and can not assail them. As to some of them then can only say, "we suggested them." The pity is that they would do no more. It took Wilson to put them on the statute book.

the railroads. All passenger service would end and all manufacturers and mines would have to suspend for lack of fuel, material and markets, and for the time being the farmers with their produce would be relegated to the condition 100 years ago.

Congress met the conditions and enacted into law the suggestions made by the president in the first place to avert the strike.

Owing to the point of view of the critic, both the railroads and the trainmen are centred by the public and it is said that congress yielded to the trainmen under duress; that in such haste Congress could not give calm consideration to such momentous questions. But as said by the New York World, "The rights and wrongs of this controversy are yet to be determined so far as they effect the rights of the railroads and their employees," "Put out the fire first," and eliminate the cause afterwards.

ASSOCIATION AT DYER'S HILL

Was Great Success.—Will Meet Next Year With Caldwell Springs Church

The Ohio River Association met in its thirty-fourth annual session with Dyer Hill church in Livingston county, August 23rd, 1916. Dyer Hill is a beautiful place about six miles from Smithland.

The weather was all that could have been desired and great crowds were in attendance throughout the entire session.

The Association was called to order at the appointed hour, by Moderator, Bro. H. F. Green; great enthusiasm was manifested from the beginning and a Missionary spirit was predominate throughout the session.

Most of the pastors of the Association were present and we had with us as visiting brethren, Elders, H. B. Taylor and A. E. Cross of Blood River Association, C. R. Barnes and Gus H. Marshall of Little River Association, C. H. Wilson of West Union Association and U. G. Fox of Carroll County Association, Arkansas. All the churches belonging to the Association were represented by messengers except Mount Olivet and Walnut Grove, and one new church, Creswell, was by petitionary letter received into membership.

After singing and devotional services, Elder W. W. Crouch preached the introductory sermon, using as a text, John 3:16 and Luke 22: 28, 29, his subject was Heavenly gifts bestowed for Divine purposes. The sermon was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The election of officers resulted in the reelection of Bro. H. F. Green as Moderator and in the absence of Bro. R. A. LaRue, C. G. Thompson was elected clerk.

The Association adjourned at 3:00 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday to hear Bro. H. B. Taylor preach; he used as a text Isaiah 54:2 and 2nd Corinthians 6:13; his was "A Larger Vision of the Field of Christian Service. The sermon was practical in every point and was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it.

The reports on the various causes fostered by the Baptist Denomination were read and adopted; all of them were encouraging and stand as proof that the great work of helping to evangelize the world is being carried forward by the Baptists within the bounds of the Ohio River Association.

After the report on the Kentucky Baptist Children's Home was read, an offering was called for by Bro. T. A. Conway which resulted in the messengers pledging for the churches, the sum of $113.00 for the purpose of buying one acre of the Home farm; also a cash collection of $45.05 to apply on the running expenses of the home.

Bro. Terry Martin called for an offering to be used as an educational fund, for Bro. W. W. Crouch, who will enter Bethel College, which resulted in the sum of about $158.00; $120.25 of same being paid in cash and the balance promised.

Bro. R. A. Barnes our Associational Missionary was present and the Association voted to continue his services and instructed the district board to purchase a tent for him to use in the destitute places of the Association.

Bro. W. D. Cannan, Secretary and Treasurer of the District Mission Board reports total cash receipts at the Association of $488.80.

Bro. J. B. Hubbard was present representing the Western Recorder and reports a nice amount of cash business.

The good people of Dyer Hill church and community made abundant provision for the Association and a resolution of thanks was tendered them before the final adjournment.

Caldwell Spring church in Crittenden county was selected as the place for the next Association and when the hour for final adjournment came, all seemed to feel that the cause of Christ had been greatly strengthened and that possibly the greatest meeting in the history of the Ohio River Association had come to a close. C. G. Thompson, clk.

WEAKNESS, CAUSE, NOT CANDIDATE

Hughes Should Not Be Blamed
For Poor Showing.

Chicago, Ill. Sept. 4th—The initial swing around the circle by former justice Hughes, Republican nominee for President, has materially increased the chances of President Wilson's re-election, in the opinion of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, Western Democratic campaign manager.

"Now that Candidate Hughes is about completing his cross-country speaking tour, an opportunity is afforded to survey it as a whole and to judge more accurately of its value and effect," said Senator Walsh, in a statement issued to-day.

"I am disposed to believe that the country has been somewhat unjust to Gov. Hughes, in the judgment which has been formed of his ability and his statesmanship, as exhibited in his public addresses thus far, assigning to him a weakness that really inheres in his cause. He may not be magnetic, but it would be idle to assert that he is lacking in intellectual vigor or wanting in the essentials of a high quality of American citizenship.

"Disappointment at his failure to make a better showing has bred a sentiment akin to resentment among many of his party associates. Without any well defined virile policy, either foreign or domestic, enunciated in their platform, contrasting boldly with the record legislative and executive made by the Administration, they looked to him to supply an issue they had been unable to frame and to outline a course departing radically from that they had been following.

United States Should Aid in Emancipation of Latin-American States

By WOODROW WILSON
President of the United States

There is one peculiarity about the history of the Latin-American states which, I am sure, they are keenly aware of. You hear of "concessions" to foreign capitalists in Latin America. You do not hear of concessions to foreign capitalists in the United States. They are not granted concessions. They are invited to make investments. The work is ours, though they are welcome to invest in it. We do not ask them to supply the capital and do the work. It is an invitation, not a privilege; and states that are obliged, because their territory does not lie within the main field of modern enterprise and action, to grant concessions are in this condition, that foreign interests are apt to dominate their domestic affairs—a condition of affairs always dangerous and apt to become intolerable.

The dignity, the courage, the self-possession, the self-respect of the Latin-American states, their achievements in the face of all these adverse circumstances, deserve nothing but the admiration and applause of the world. I rejoice in nothing so much as in the prospect that they will now be emancipated from these conditions; and we ought to be the first to take part in assisting in that emancipation.

Development of Agriculture Will Insure National Strength

By REPRESENTATIVE J. RANDALL WALKER of Georgia

Agriculture is the basic industry of the world. Whatever advances agriculture strengthens the nation for war as well as for peace and promotes the interests of all mankind. It is our duty and should be our delight so to legislate as to insure to the tillers of the soil the maximum of comfort, prosperity, and contentment in their labors. Taxation measures should be framed to bear upon them most lightly. Government aid to increase the fertility of the soil, to diversify the crops, and increase the rewards of farm labor should go out to them continuously.

Develop agriculture, make it a profitable industry, and you have gone far to the preservation of the nation, should our national life ever be threatened. A contented, patriotic, home-loving people will arise in their might to meet the nation's need. Germany organized agriculture as perfectly as any other industry, and today she is feeding her people at home and her armies in the field, though hedged in by a ring of steel.

Jealousy Not Always Sign of Mean or Little Nature

By FRANK P. NIEMANN, County Judge of Nassau County, New York

A recent ruling of mine, whereby I refused to send a man to an insane asylum, caused a great deal of discussion, not because of the importance of the single case, but because of my assertion that if every jealous man were sent to an insane asylum we would have to build a double row of madhouses the length of the island. I repeat that assertion.

Some of the soundest, finest, biggest natures I have ever known suffered from jealousy.

What is the cure for it? Patience! Patience! And again patience! If you have caused any suffering through that emotion, treat it as you would any pathological state. Remove the cause. If the person has imagined a cause, the suffering is as real to him as though it existed. Patiently convince that person that he is in error. It cannot be done at once, but by kindly persistence the germ can be eliminated from the mind.

True American One Who Stands for Rights of Humanity

By REPRESENTATIVE FRANK BUCHANAN of Illinois

A true American is one who loves the people of America and faithfully tries to serve them, and whose fidelity to their cause will not be swayed by imminent danger to his personal interests or by threats from powerful influences to destroy him. True Americanism exists in him who has the courage to strive for the rights and freedom of humanity under great difficulties. A true and intelligent American understands that he is to a degree a citizen of the world, and while striving to serve the best interests of America, realizes that these interests are best served by directing his influence to serve humanity elsewhere.

Americanism does not mean a locality. Americanism does not mean a family tree. Americanism means liberty, equality and justice, and he who stands firmest in support of these principles deserves most to be called an American.

Excessive Religion Estranges Nations and Breeds Hypocrisy

By REV. FRANK C. BRUNER, Pastor Simpson Methodist Church, Chicago

To be overreligious breeds hypocrisy. Many are so full of religion they have no room for the love of God. The religiosity of man takes root often in materialism. Take the religion of nationalism, which has for centuries held humanity in its giant grip in Germany, Russia and Rome, as well as other nations. What is it doing now to make the world better? In the name of national religion it has drawn sword to slaughter tens of thousands, breaking the heart of motherhood, and running innocent childhood, whose tender life is left exposed to cruel war.

The present war is nothing but over-religiousness, rooted deeply in selfishness for the promotion of a religion of nationalism, denominationalism and aristocracy.

Wall Street's Testimony.

No sooner did it become known in Wall Street that the railroad presidents would yield to the despotism demands of President Wilson than the Stock Exchange proceeded to have 1,000,000-share day, with 300,000 shares thrown in for good measure.

The Sacred principle of arbitration had been throttled by a ruthless chief magistrate. The railroads had been condemned to ruin without their day in court. Demagoguery was in the saddle, and the economic stability of all industry was menaced by the "in-epitaph," as Mr. Hughes would call it, of Woodrow Wilson.

So Steel moved to a new high record of $71.2. The shares of the railroads already wrecked by an eight-hour day advanced all along the line. The brokers were unable to take care of the business of people who wanted to invest money in the casacism of industry.

Yesterday the situation refused to better itself. There was another 1,000,000-share day. Steel common went up to $93.35, narrowly escaping par. There has been no other such stock market in ten months as New York has witnessed since President Wilson ruined the railroads, obliterated arbitration and gave over the industries of a great country to aarchy and destruction.

All of which shows how much real honesty and sincerity lies back of the Wall Street criticism of Presidents Wilson's action in averting a strike.

Wall Street's deeds do not square with its words. Its words have been lately denunciatory of the President for refusing to accept the railroad theory of arbitration. Its deeds are an emphatic endorsement of the President's strong action in preventing a strike.

Cursing President Wilson as Wall Street's favorite amusement but capitalizing his strength as its most profitable industry.

Notice To Taxpayers.

It is now time to begin making the assessment again. The law requires that each tax payer give a full and complete list of all taxable property in his or her possession on September 1st. I want to ask that each tax payer make an invoice on Sept. 1st, of all taxable property, valuing it at a fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale, and note it down on a piece of paper so you will have it ready when I call on you.

Upon investigation I find that the Dog Tax Law was not repealed as was reported, so please remember that all dogs over four months old, on Sept. 1st, will be subject to taxation, and if you do not want to pay taxes on them, please get rid of them before that time.

Yours truly,
C. G. THOMPSON,
Assessor.

Woe Unto The Child

Of Disobedience.

Woe unto a child of disobedience. There is an end to all things. Even so with Christ. He died that all may be saved through belief and obedience to His will; through His word and Holy Spirit. You have the light of knowledge of His will and you heed not, and He calls, He pleads, He yearns and prays for you to come to give your life to Him and live as God intended man to live for God and God alone and you would not, and then comes the limit of Christ's yearnings, prayers and sympathy. You pass out of His heart as if you had never been born, no thought of you, no intercession for you.

Woe unto you children of disobedience. There is going to have to be some mighty deep repentance on your part to ever be recognized by your savior again.

Woe unto you when you awake to find you are no more known of Christ. The anguish, the sorrow you have made it so by your life of disobedience.

I believe the same thing does happen to the child of a parent, friend to friend.

Parents having advised, pleaded and prayed for that child ten years to give its heart to God and live the right life through obedience, and it all is ignored, no regard for your admonition, no respect for your prayers, no sympathy for the anguish, or sorrow, all considered as foolishness. They, too, will pass out of that parent's heart and life. Then there will be no more prayers for you as an individual, no special pleading for you. You have passed out as if you had never been. Until and not until you have repented and begged to be recognized. Will you ever be in the place in that parent's and friend's life that you should be. You have made it so through disobedience.

Woe unto the child of disobedience. -- A Subscriber.

BLACKFORD

Through the items from Blackford may be imperfect in composition and crude in style, yet we believe that your scribe has written enough to emerge from her "swaddling" clothes and has already passed the "cat-nip" test stage, therefore she is willing to pencil another epistle for publication. With due consideration and extraordinary conservatism, we are yet uncertain as to what is the highest thing in this part of Kentucky, the Crittenden county hills, the sycamore trees on Tradewater river, the thermometer reading, or the price paid for family groceries; but are of the opinion that the latter takes the prize for altitude.

Blackford Graded School began on last Monday with Prof. Ernest N. Pusey, of Bowling Green, as principal and Misses Ancey Campbell, of Sturgis; Matilda Brantley, of Repton, and Ruby Horning, of Blackford as grade teachers. We trust that the patrons, pupils and all other adjuncts that are necessary to compose a good school may stand by the teachers, all "pull" together and thereby have a successful school.

Roy V. Hughes a former school teacher of Crittenden county, who has been attending Kentucky Business college at Bowling Green for a number of months, paid this town a visit last week. Roy is an orphan boy who is earnestly striving to be something worth while and deserves considerable credit for doing so well.

For reasons best known to the parties concerned, a number of our people have decided to leave this place and the following have already "absconded":--Jones Green and family have gone to Sullivan; Walter Purcell and family, have gone to Sturgis; and Malan Crowell and family have gone to Rosiclaire, Ill.

Among the conglomeration of professional men that Blackford is in possession of, we have skilled painters. The leading pair Levi Johnson and M. N. Crowell, are doing a scientific job of painting for John J. Martin near Sullivan.

The stork lit at this hamlet on the 29th ultimo and left a brand new girl in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ringo.

Reba Reynolds--commonly called fatty--who has been on the sick list for a number of days, is doing nicely at present.

John Mark Dilbeck, section foreman on this division of the Illinois Central railroad, has been suffering several days with malaria chills.

John Taylor, a native of the Crittenden hills, who resides near Truman, Ark., was in this part of Kentucky during last week. Friend Taylor reports that crops and business affairs are fairly good in that part of Arkansas.

Bro. Abraham Ritch, a General Baptist minister, of Providence, passed here during last week enroute to Livingston county, to conduct a revival meeting near Lola.

Miss Minnie Dilbeck, a popular saleslady at H. V. Stone's store, is now taking the Anti-Typhoid vaccination. Also Hugh T. Reynolds, Floyd M. McGregor, Rolley W. Croft and a number of others are being inoculated with the Anti-typhoid serum.

"Don't stop my paper, friend Jenkins, Don't strike my name off yet, You know the times are stringent And dollars are hard to get; But tug a little longer Is what I mean to do, And scrape the dimes together-- Enough for me and you."

Marion Graded And High School Begins Monday.

Large enrollment in all the grades. Many patrons present.

Over 100 enrolled in High School Dept first day and many others to come. Agriculture to be a special feature of the work.

The City Schools began Monday and never before in the history of the school here has so much interest been manifested and have so many patrons been present at a school opening as were at the auditorium Monday morning when school began. There was not standing room in the building.

The devotional exercises were led by Rev. Trotter after which a splendid talk was made by Mr. W. D. Cannan, Chairman of the board of trustees. Appropriate talks were made by Judge Rochester, County Supt. Travis, Rev. Chandler, Mr. Franklin and Supt. Christian. All of the speakers emphasized special things that will make the school better.

A special feature of the work in High School this year will be the courses in Agriculture which will be taught by Mr. James H. Moore. Some of the best and most progressive High School have added that course to the curriculum during the last year or two and Marion's school men and her Board of Trustees believing that the boys and girls of Marion and Crittenden County are entitled to the best to be had added this to the course this year.

The High School enrollment is already much larger than it has ever been before and many others will enroll later. It may be of interest to know that the High School here ranks among the best High Schools of Kentucky and continues to grow. Why send your boy or girl elsewhere to school when your own school is as good as the best? Teachers, patrons and pupils are enthusiastic over the outlook for a splendid years work.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS
A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value
To Every Marlon Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptical. Now-a-days the public asks for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Marlon reader.

William Redd, farmer, Marlon, Ky., says: "I have a severe pain in the small of my back and my back ached and felt lame in the morning. I tired very easily and was nervous all the time. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and contained sediment. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I began using them. I was helped almost at once." OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Redd said: "I haven't had to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I last recommended them, but I keep them on hand for relief, if I happen to catch cold or overwork my kidneys." Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Redd has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Bremen Caught In
Net, Is The Report.

New York, Sept. 5.—The New York City News Association quotes an officer of the British merchant marine who arrived here today aboard the White Star liner Baltic, as authority for the statement that the German submarine Bremen had been captured by the British and thirty three of her crew of thirty five made prisoners. The Bremen, according to the account, was captured in the straits of Dover in a steel net on August 2. Two members of her crew lost their lives.

The Bremen, it was said, while enmeshed in the net, was sighted by a British patrol boat, her stern under water and her bow high above the surface. After endeavoring for a time to extricate the wreck the patrol boat steamed away for Dover with her prisoners.

According to the officer quoted the British Government has maintained silence in regard to the capture, as another German transatlantic submarine, the Amerika, was said to be on the way here and it was hoped to capture her also.

120 Tons Of Whiskers.

Paris, Sept. 5.—The beard of the French soldier is doomed in an army order directing that the men at the front shave all but mustaches. The order brought an outburst of humorous and ironic discussion in the trench newspaper to which some of the most famous French artists, philosophers and literary men have contributed.

Jean Richepin the dramatist, writing in the Euse says: "The beard has gone but what is the difference to us? In place of it, it is courage that grows. Let the beard fall and French courage rise."

Gen. Pierre Cherfils, reasoning technically, excuses the measure because the beard of a trooper weighs on an average of 60 grammes. With two million men at the front, this brings the aggregate weight to 120 tons. It was natural that the staff should think of relieving the army of this considerable and useless weight.

To Whom It May Concern.

Miss Evalyn Clement attended the Bowling Green business University several months during the winter and spring of this year and it was my pleasure to have her in some of my classes.

She was easily one of the most capable of my students efficient both in the technical and general education. There is no question about her thorough knowledge of the principles of Gregg shorthand. She makes excellent forms, knows every detail of the technic of shorthand and of typewriting, and has energy and personality enough to teach these subjects effectively.

Respectively,
J. L. HARMAN,
Vice Pres.

Miss Clement will start a shorthand and typewriting school in this city and all interested in this work should see her at once.

French Had 800,000
Men Upon Verdun Front.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—(by wireless to Sayville).—A semi-official announcement to-day says that between February 21 and Aug. 20 there were engaged in the Verdun sector sixty-six French divisions, nearly 800,000 men. ## Capital Has the Power to Prevent Growth of Discontent

By JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS
Controller of the Currency

In almost exact ratio when wealth and capital increase, the bitterness against wealth and capital also increases. Not socialism, but united action among financial forces to distribute their working capital can prevent growth of this discontent.

The building up of small local industries undertaken by capable and willing hands, the development of the great fundamental agricultural industry, helping of the little business man who has character, ability and ambition, offers tremendous opportunities not only for the increase of an aggregate wealth and power, but for distribution of them, so that no worthy man may be hopeless.

Yellow Decorations in Home Will Help Dispel Pessimism

By MISS ARMINTA HOLMAN
Instructor in color in Kansas Agricultural College

If you are a pessimist, yellow decorations in your home will help dispel the gloom. If you have a small room and want to make it appear more roomy, furnish it in blue. Blue is a receding, cool color. A bit of yellow used in decorating a room finished in blue adds cheeriness, making the room appear cool, bright and pleasant. Green, a combination of blue and yellow, is a soothing, restful color, and may well be used on the walls and floor if grayed.

Red is a warm, exciting and advancing color. A room furnished in red appears smaller than its actual size. When combined with yellow it gives both warmth and cheer, and is the basis for the rich tones of brown and tan. Light tones suggest youth, frivolity, informality and femininity, while dark tones suggest strength, dignity, repose and masculinity.

Unwelcome Task May Be Met Either by Fighting or Wooing It

By MISS ELEANOR CRAIG of Colorado Agricultural College

There is something very trying in a task. It has an unpleasant way of asserting itself at the busiest and most inopportune moments. It thrusts itself forward to blight our pleasantest hours, and comes into our lives like an avenging power. It is never welcome, always provokes, and is ever a burden to accomplish.

There are two ways by which it can be annihilated. One is by arraying ourselves in our armor, so to speak, as they picture the Christians of old, and going out to conquer as they fought sin. The other is to woo it, as a girl a refractory lover, studying its possibilities until a real interest asserts itself and it changes its nature, ceasing to be a task, and becoming a pleasure.

Working Men of United States Not Getting Square Deal

By HENRY FORD of Detroit, Mich.

The working men of the United States are not getting a square deal. If the employers of this country don't squeeze the water out of their securities and begin dividing up with the working men right away, we are going to have serious trouble—very serious trouble.

Union labor doesn't mean anything to me. About the only ones who profit by organized labor are the business agent and the walking delegate—and now and then they happen to be grafters. But the laboring classes of this country deserve better wages. It is their right. We don't know such a thing as a union labor man in our plant, but we recognize human beings and their right to just wages.

Ideal Americanism Not Complete Without Woman Suffrage

By JOHN NICHOL

I do not believe we can become ideal Americans as long as we withhold woman suffrage. The practical outcome of granting it is less vital and important than the individual and national belief in the principle.

Our position today has been reached with the Declaration of Independence as a stepping-stone, and is the result of our wishes and belief made active. Our fancied government of the people, by the people, and for the people, is a myth. It is a masculine rule. The women, half of the people, are simply wants. Equal suffrage is a basic principle of Americanism. Liberty and equality is impossible without this belief.

Marriage Laws Rather Than Divorce Statutes Need Reforming

By REV. F. R. MARGETTS of Spokane, Wash.

How frequently the phrase, "What God hath joined together," is quoted. I want to say that I believe God has nothing to do with a large percentage of marriages, especially those that lead to the divorce court. God is not a party to marriages for title nor marriages for money. In seeking to reform the divorce laws we are beginning at the wrong end to correct this evil. We should work for stricter marriage laws and more thought by marrying couples.

Zeppelins Shun Ireland.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—Ireland is not side the zone prescribed so far as Zeppelins are concerned. Ireland is not regarded as enemy territory in the sense that England and Scotland are, and the Emerald Isle, for the present at least, will be as free from Zeppelins as it is of snakes.

"WHY WOMEN CANNOT SLEEP."

The highly organized, flesh-string nervous system of women subjects them to nervous prostration which no man can ever appreciate.

The power of mind, the mental peace and calmness under observation, which is necessary for happy womanhood, is only possible when the sensitive feminine organism is in a perfectly healthy condition. If there be any weakness or derangement in this respect, no rest in the world so completely restores womanly health, nervous vigor and capability as the wonderful "Pink Pills for Pale People" invented by Dr. J. C. Pink.

It purifies, builds and strengthens, restores functional capacity, gives the physical and mental and sustaining power of periods of special weakness and depression. "I have known of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Pink Pills. I began using it because a friend recommended it. When run down, nervous and dragging around I used several bottles of this well-known remedy. It always helps me just as it is advertised to do. It is the most pleasant and the best woman's medicine I have ever used. I have recommended it to several others. My daughter has also used it with just as good results as I have." — Mrs. LUCRETIA GIBSON, 1348 Greenwood St.

The Impending Strike.

It is doubtful if more than a very small percent of our readers grasp the seriousness of the threatened railroad strike.

The sudden stopping of the trains on all the roads would be a calamity second only to war.

It would be a calamity too great to be comprehended until it had happened and had blown its blighting breath over a prosperous nation, pulsing busy industry and plagued our peaceful daily lives.

In blind confidence, when the possibility of a strike is mentioned, we draw upon our native optimism and say: "Well, somehow I feel that a way will be found to prevent a strike."

This is the same optimism that caused Europe to the last moment to believe that there would be no war.

But there was war, and there may be a railroad strike.—Gleaner.

"Understand he had no insurance."
"Not a penny!"
"Suppose you're insured all right?"
"You bet! Dollar for dollar."
"What's the name of your company?"
"Blessed if I know! Left that to the agent."

"You don't know the name of your company, nothing about its financial resources, nothing about its reputation for fair dealing, nothing about how promptly it settles losses—and yet you're quite sure you are safely insured!"

"By George, I never thought of all that!"

"Well, you should. And if you aren't absolutely satisfied, look up the record of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company. Hundred and four years in business. Has always settled every honest obligation on the dot. That's my company—the old, reliable Hartford."

And that's the company we represent.

Sun's Total Eclipse.

Astronomers are already beginning to make plans for observing the total eclipse of the sun, which will occur June 8th, 1918. The path of totality extends diagonally across the whole United States, as the shadow, after crossing the North Pacific ocean, will enter the country in the neighborhood of Chehalis, Wash.; pass over Baker City, Ore.; Bailey and Montpelier, Idaho; Rock Springs, Wyo.; Steamboat Springs, Central City, Golden and Denver, Col.; Lakin and Ashland, Kan.; Enid, Okla.; Jackson, Miss.; and Orlando, Fla. Along the easterly part of the route the sun will be too near setting for the best observations. Scientific American.

ROUMANIA WITH ENTENTE ALLIES

Roumania Will Bring Nearly One Million Troops Into The Field.

London, Sept. 5th.—Roumania has entered the war on the side of the entente allies, making the fourteenth nation engaged. Germany quickly declared war on Roumania. Roumania has a population of 66,800,000, and a well equipped army of 580,000, and is capable of putting 1,000,000 men in the field.

Petrograd.—Roumania's declaration of war is regarded in official circles here as being far-reaching in its significance. The foreign office points out three striking benefits to the entente allies: First, the substantial aid of the Roumanian army; second, make possible the tightening of the ring about the Germanic powers by opening a new line of attack; third, it shuts off from the central powers a very considerable source of supplies and foodstuffs.

Scripture Quotation.

29:4-11

The voice of the Lord is powerful; the voice of the Lord is full of majesty.

The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars; yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

He maketh them also to skip like a calf; Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.

The voice of the Lord divideth the flames of fire.

The voice of the Lord shaketh the wilderness; the Lord shaketh the wilderness of Kadesh.

The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calve, and discovereth the forest; and in his temple doth every one speak of his glory.

The Lord sitteth upon the flood; yea, the Lord sitteth King for ever.

The Lord will give strength unto his people; the Lord will bless his people with peace.

What A Baby Costs.

(Detroit Free Press.)

"How much do babies cost?"

said he,

The other night upon my knee,
And then I said, "They cost a lot;
A lot of watching by a cot,
A lot of sleepless hours and care,
A lot of headache and despair,
A lot of fear and trying dread,
And sometimes many tears are shed
In payment for our babies small,
But they are really worth it all.

For babies people have to pay
A heavy price from day to day;
There is no way to get one cheap.
Why sometimes when they are fast asleep,

You have to get up in the night
And go and see that they're all right.
But what they cost in constant care
And worry does not half compare
With what they bring of joy and bliss,
You'd pay much more for just a kiss.

Who buys a baby has to pay
A portion of the bill each day;
He has to give his time and thought
Unto the little one he's bought;
He has to stand a lot of pain
Inside his heart and not complain,
And pay with lonely days and sad
For all the happy hours he's had
All this a baby costs, and yet,
His smile is worth it all, you bet.

That powdered our path with the anowy
White bloom of the locus tree!
Let the whippertails help you to sing it,
And the echoes 'way over the hill,
'Till the moon boogles out, in a chorus
Of stars, and our voices are still.

Butch "They're a chord in the music
That's missed when her voice is away
Though I listen from midnight till morning,
And dawn till the dusk of the day!
And I grope through the dark looking up 'ards,
And on through the heavenly dome,
With my longin' soul singin' and sobbin'—
The words "Do they miss me at home?"

The Subscription Price

of Newspapers.

The condition of the newspaper market makes it necessary for every newspaper to revise its circulation plans. Newspapers ranging all the way from the county sheet to the big metropolitan daily have raised their subscription rates. Many of the weekly papers heretofore published at 1.00 are charging their subscription $1.50. Quite a number of the one cent dailies have advanced their price to 2 cents and every publisher is of necessity proceeding ever way conservatively in his methods for increasing circulation. Newspaper subscription rates are based usually upon a payment in advance and the newspaper now accepting subscribers for the next year does so with out any certainty at all as to what it must pay to fulfill its part of the contract.

Allies Bombard Cheut:

Ammunition Depots Destroyed.

London, Aug. 27.—A squadron of the Entente Allies aeroplanes bombarded the neighborhood of Ghent Friday morning, according to the Echo Belge, says a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam. The first bomb was dropped at 8:20 o'clock and the bombardment had continued thirty-five minutes when there was a terrific explosion that lasted fifteen seconds, shattering windows throughout the city. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by the blowing up of an ammunition depot. Soon a second explosion, equally severe, was heard. The newspaper says it is reported there were many victims.

An ammunition depot at Meirbeke also was blown up and a Zeppelin was seriously damaged.

Famous Treasures of Montenegro Have Been Secured.

Genev, Switzerland, August 25 (via Paris)—The Austrians, according to a special dispatch from Innsbruck, have found the famous treasures of the Detcham monastery, near Cettinje, Montenegro, which the monks had buried upon the approach of the invaders. The accumulations were those of seven centuries, consisting of jewells and old coin of every generation since the thirteenth century, golden vessels and richly embroidered vestments. The value of the whole accumulation is estimated at several millions of pounds.

It is said, adds the dispatch that a peasant betrayed to the Austrians the catacombs, where the treasures were secreted.

HAS KEPT FAITH
SAYS PRESIDENT

ing and assessment. There is no means of judging the future except by assessing the past. Constructive action must be weighed against destructive comment and reaction.

"Mr. Wilson asserted that the Republican party was put out of power because of practical and moral failure, because it had served special interests and not the country at large. Banking reform, the interests of the farmer and the army and navy had been neglected.

Set Free to Move.

"So things stood when the Democratic party came into power. How do they stand now? Alike in the domestic field and in the wide field of the commerce of the world, American business and life and industry have been set free to move as they never moved before.

"The tariff has been revised not on the principle of repelling foreign trade, but upon the principle of encouraging it upon something like a footing of equality with our own in respect of the terms of competition, and a tariff board has been created whose function it will be to keep the relations of American with foreign business and industry under constant observation for the guidance alike of our business men and of our congress. American energies are now directed toward the markets of the world.

"The laws against trusts have been clarified by definition with a view to making it plain that they were not directed against big business, but only against unfair business and the pretense of competition where there was none, and a trade commission has been created with powers of guidance and accommodation which have relieved business men of unfounded fears and set them upon the road of hopeful and confident enterprise.

"By the federal reserve act the supply of currency at the disposal of active business has been rendered elastic, taking its volume not from a fixed body of investment securities, but from the liquid assets of daily trade, and these assets are assessed and accepted not by distant groups of bankers in control of unavailable reserves, but by bankers at the many centers of local exchange who are in touch with local conditions everywhere.

"Effective measures have been taken for the re-creation of an American merchant marine and the revival of the American carrying trade indispensable to our emancipation from the control which foreigners have so long exercised over the opportunities, the routes, and the methods of our commerce with other countries.

"The interstate commerce commission has been reorganized to enable it to perform its great and important functions more promptly and more efficiently. We have created, extended and improved the service of the parcel post. So much we have done for business. What other party has understood the task so well or executed it so intelligently and energetically?

"For the farmers of the country we have virtually created commercial credit by means of the federal reserve act and the rural credits act. They now have the standing of other business men in the money market. We have successfully regulated speculation in "futures" and established standards in the marketing of grain. By an intelligent warehouse act we have assisted to make the standard crops available as never before both for systematic marketing and as a security for loans from the banks.

"The workmen of America have been given a veritable emancipation by the legal recognition of a man's labor as part of his life and not a mere marketable commodity; by exempting labor organizations from processes of the courts, which treated their members like fractional parts of mobs and not like accessible and responsible individuals; by releasing our seamen from involuntary servitude; by making adequate provision for compensation for industrial accidents; by providing suitable machinery for mediation and conciliation in industrial disputes and by putting the federal department of labor at the disposal of the workmen when in search of work.

"We have effected the emancipation of the children of the country by releasing them from harmful labor. We have instituted a system of national aid in the building of highroads such as the country has been feeling after for a century. We have sought to equalize taxation by means of an equitable income tax. We have taken the steps that ought to have been taken at the outset to open up the resources of Alaska. We have provided for national defense upon a scale never before seriously proposed upon the responsibility of an entire political party. We have driven the tariff lobby from cover and obliged it to substitute solid argument for private influence.

A Record of Promises Kept.

"This extraordinary record must stand as a platform, a list of genuine promises, but it is not. It is a record of promises made four years ago and now actually redeemed in constructive legislation. We have in four years come very near to carrying out the platform of the Progressive party as well as our own, for we also are progressives."

This program, Mr. Wilson declared, was resisted at every step by interests which the Republican party had fostered at the expense of the country, interests which had fought the reform of the banking and currency system and which were now planning for the amendment of the federal reserve act by the concentration of control in a single bank which the "old familiar group of bankers" can keep under their eye and direction. But while the "big men" who used to write the tariffs and command the assistance of the treasury have been hostile—all but a few with vision—the average business man knows that he has been delivered unless the party that consulted only the "big men" should return to power. They still select its candidates and dictate its policy, he said.

Foreign Affairs.

Concerning foreign affairs, we have been neutral because it was the traditional policy of the United States to stand aloof from European politics. Mr. Wilson declared. Property rights of our citizens can be vindicated by claims for damages, but the fundamental rights of humanity cannot be.

"The loss of life is irreparable. Neither can direct violations of a nation's sovereignty await vindication in suits for damages. The nation that violates these essential rights must expect to be checked and called to account by direct challenge and resistance. It at once makes the quarrel in part our own. These are plain principles, and we have never lost sight of them or departed from them. The passions and intrigues of certain active groups and combinations of men among us who were born under foreign flags injected the poison of disloyalty into our own most critical affairs, laid violent hands upon many of our industries and subjected us to the shame of divisions of sentiment and purpose in which America was contemned and forgotten. It is part of the business of this year of reckoning and settlement to speak plainly and act with unmistakable purpose in rebuke of these things in order that they may be forever hereafter impossible. I am the candidate of a party, but I am above all things else an American citizen. I neither seek the favor nor fear the displeasure of that small alien element among us which puts loyalty to any foreign power before loyalty to the United States."

The Mexican Trouble.

Concerning Mexico the president stated that we believed that small and weak states have the right to expect to be dealt with exactly as big and powerful states would be. Our recent pursuit of banquets into Mexican territory was no violation of that principle. We ventured to enter Mexican territory only because there were no military forces in Mexico that could protect our border from hostile attack and our own people from violence.

Many serious wrongs against the property, many irreparable wrongs against the persons of Americans have been committed within the territory of Mexico herself during this confused revolution, but we could not act directly in that matter ourselves without denying Mexicans the right to any revolution at all which disturbed us and making the emancipation of her own people await our interest and convenience.

"The people of Mexico have not been suffered to own their own country or direct their own institutions. Outsiders, men of other nations and with interests too often alien to their own, have dictated what their privileges and opportunities should be and who should control their land, their lives and their resources—some of them Americans, pressing for things they could never have got in their own country. The Mexican people are entitled to attempt their liberty from such influences, and so long as I have anything to do with the action of our great government I shall do everything in my power to prevent any one standing in their way. It is hard doctrine only for those who wish to get something for themselves out of Mexico. I have heard no one who was free from such influences propose interference by the United States with the internal affairs of Mexico. Certainly no friend of the Mexican people has proposed it.

The "Unspakable Huerta."

"The people of Mexico are striving for the rights that are fundamental to life and happiness—15,000,000 oppressed men, overburdened women and pitiful children in virtual bondage in their own home of fertile lands and inexhaustible treasure. Some of the leaders of the revolution may often have been mistaken and violent and selfish, but the revolution itself was inevitable and is right. The unspakable Huerta betrayed the very comrades he served, traitorously overthrew the government of which he was a trusted part, impudently spoke for the very forces that had driven him people to the rebellion with which he had pretended to sympathize. The men who overcame him and drove him out represent at least the fierce passion of reconstruction which lies at the very heart of liberty, and so long as they represent, however imperfectly, such a struggle for deliverance I am ready to serve their ends when I can. So long as the power of recognition rests with me the government of the United States will refuse to extend the hand of welcome to any one who obtains power in a sister republic by treachery and violence. No permanency can be given the affairs of any republic by a title based upon intrigue and assassination. Mistakes I have no doubt made in this perplexing business, but not in purpose or object."

To Play a Leading Part.

The president declared that we must be prepared both in resources and in policy to play our part when Europe's war is over. There must be a just and settled peace, and the nations of the world must unite in joint guarantees that whatever is done to disturb the whole world's life must first be tested in the court of the whole world's opinion before it is attempted.

"We have created in the federal trade commission a means of inquiry and of accommodation in the field of commerce which ought both to coordinate the enterprises of our traders and manufacturers and to remove the barriers of misunderstanding and of a too technical interpretation of the law. In the new tariff commission we have added another instrumentality of observation and adjustment which promises to be immediately serviceable. The trade commission substitutes counsel and accommodation for the harsher processes of legal restraint, and the tariff commission ought to substitute facts for prejudices and theories.

"We can no longer indulge our traditional provincialism. We are to play a leading part in the world drama whether we wish it or not. We shall lend, not borrow; act for ourselves, not imitate or follow; organize and initiate, not peep about merely to see where we may get in.

"We have already formulated and agreed upon a policy of law which will explicitly remove the ban now supposed to rest upon cooperation among our exporters in seeking and securing their proper place in the markets of the world. At home we have put all kinds of unfair competition under the ban and penalty of the law. We have barred monopoly. We ought both to husband and to develop our natural resources, our mines, our forests, our water power.

"We must hearten and quicken the spirit and efficiency of labor throughout our whole industrial system by everywhere and in all occupations doing justice to the laborer, not only by paying a living wage, but also by making all the conditions that surround labor what they ought to be. We must co-ordinate the railway systems of the country for national use and must facilitate and promote their development with a view to that co-ordination and to their better adaptation as a whole to the life and trade and defense of the nation."

In conclusion Mr. Wilson said that he had sought to interpret the spirit and meaning of the St. Louis platform, and that the people knew that that platform was a definite pledge which would be kept. The day of little Americanism, with its narrow horizons, when methods of "protection" and industrial nursing were the chief study of our provincial statesmen, was past and gone.

"We are Americans for big America and refuse to look forward to the day when all mankind shall look upon our great people with a new sentiment of admiration, friendly rivalry and real affection as upon a people who thought, keen to succeed, seeks always to be at once generous and just and to whom humanity is dearer than profit or selfish power. Upon this record and in the faith of this purpose we go to the country."

Mrs. B. A. Patton

Passes to Her Reward.

Mrs. Lizzie McClure was born May 6th, 1882. Was married to B. A. Patton, Oct. 14th, 1907.

She professed faith in Christ at the age of sixteen years.

She died August 27th, 1916. The funeral services were conducted by F. L. Hughes, in Caldwell Springs, on August 28th at 11 a. m. after which she was laid to rest in the cemetery at that place.

She was blessed with a husband and three children, a father, mother, one sister and three brothers in death her loss.

The large esteem with which she was held in her community was attested by the largest gathering ever held in Caldwell Springs for her funeral.

She was a noble woman, a kind, faithful, affectionate wife and a devoted mother.

She bore her sorrows with much patience, never murmuring.

Her only regret in dying was leaving her husband and little children.

To the bereaved family and loved ones we would say:

"Beyond these chilling and gloomy scenes,

Beyond death's lonely portal, There is a land where beauty never dies.

And love becomes immortal."

A Friend.

WHEN more than half the motorists—men and women—in the United States are driving Ford cars, there is some reason other than low price. The Ford is a better car for less money.

Over a million and half Ford owners know this by experience. If you are contemplating the purchase of an automobile ask some Ford-owner friend what he thinks of his car and the service it renders—then we are sure you'll buy a Ford.

We are taking orders now for cars we will receive about Sept. 10th.
